Saturday 20th March 2010 at Les Cotils

What is Kingdom theology? How is it taught? Why is it relevant to me?

The New Wine Training Partnership is an exciting development for people in Guernsey who want to go deeper with God. The partnership provides accredited theology tuition within a framework of worship and prayer – this is all about deepening faith and understanding, being equipped and seeing Jesus' kingdom grow. We are excited to be launching this venture in September 2010.

Interested? If you are considering joining the course as a student or want to know how you can support this initiative through prayer and finance, this "taster" day is for you. Dr Crispin Fletcher-Louis, principal of the Westminster Theological Centre, will minister and teach in the morning, with time given in the afternoon for any questions. There is no charge for the day and a light lunch will be provided.

"Through the teaching I found a new way to talk about what I do – how my work fits into the incredible story of what God has done through history, and what he is doing through us in our world today. It has been engaging, subverting, surprising, challenging and transforming" (Anna, International Development Adviser).
